SCRAPPING OF 2 U.S. BATTLESHIPS ASKED AT MEET

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

We see that our smashing editorial about Scotch stories didn't do us a bit of good.

Last night two good friends of ours dropped into the office and told three of 'em.

And as far as we were concerned, they were all new to us.

As a result we shall repeat them to some one else, just to see them squirm.

People may rave about a beautiful sunset — but sunrise to us is always the more beautiful.

This is probably because we see both and know just what we're talking about.

The reporter on the late trick always gets a chance, except on one or two occasions when the paper is far ahead of schedule, to see Old Sol lift his head above the hills, yawn and apply himself to spreading cheer for the new day.

There is something depressing about sunsets, no matter how beautiful they are. They are a stimulus of death. On the other hand there is something beautiful about sunrise. It carries with it the promise of a new day and instills in one new hope.

And there is always something clean and fresh about the new day. The air has a bracing smell that sends the blood coursing through the veins.

Some of you night workers will understand what we mean when we say that early in the morning we can smell the time.

Sounds foolish, but it true.

After two o'clock in the morning, the air takes on an odor that is hard to explain except that it smells new and fresh.

Mark Twain noticed that particularly. In one of his books, he said: "I judged it was early in the morning for the air smelled that way."

Riding down Macdonald avenue at 4 o'clock in the morning is like passing thru a city of the dead.

Street lights throw a dirty yellow glare over the sidewalks. Store windows are dark and drab.

The red light of a street cleaner's cart can be seen far ahead. He doesn't notice us passing.

Pounding his beat, the collar of his greatcoat pulled up around his ears, the officer of the beat seems sunk deep in thought. As we go by he waves his hand in a friendly signal.

Then, as we turn off Macdonald avenue, we pass a motor officer, who toots his horn in a friendly "good morning" greeting.

Above the purr of the motor we can hear the crowing of a cock as he arouses his hen for his daily tasks.

Knife Suspect In Martinez Jail

Edward Valencia, 202 Nev. ave., charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, was removed from the Richmond city jail last night and taken to the Martinez county jail. At his arraignment before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom yesterday afternoon, bail was set at $2500.

The complaint was sworn to by Julio Ochoa, 223 Nev. ave., who alleged that Valencia cut him with a knife in a brawl that is alleged to have occurred at Valencia's home.

BODY FOUND HIDDEN IN DITCH

WASHINGTON, April 12.—(UP)—Military and civil police joined tonight in a hunt for the murderer of Miss Maury Baker, attractive young employee of the navy department, whose body, shot through the head, was found hidden under a culvert adjoining the east wall of Arlington National cemetery.

Her automobile was found at about a mile from her body.

Miss Baker and a girl friend, teared Lenton services late yesterday afternoon, but she never reached home.

Body Hidden
The body was hidden in the ditch under the culvert and was not found until after noon today as a result of a search started when Deputy Sheriff A. A. Richards of Arlington county, found the bloody automobile about daylight.

Miss Baker was described by girl employees at the navy department as 30 years old, slender and blonde. She formerly lived in the Evangeline hotel here, and ten days ago moved to a cottage in Lion Park, a suburb where she lived with two girl friends.

She had been employed in the bureau of aeronautics eight years and was very popular with her colleagues.

No Clues
Sheriff Howard Fields of Arlington county said he had no clues as to the murder, or the reason for the shooting.

Miss Baker apparently had been assailed while driving along the secluded road near the cemetery, examination before the coroner arrived, said the bullet had entered Miss Baker's left cheek, passing through her head, and out the right side of her face, just below the jaw.

The murdered, it appeared, then drove along the right side of the road near the culvert, where the body lay in about half a foot of running water.

Japanese Mart Passes Crisis

TOKIO, April 12.—UP—Resumption of trading on the Tokio bourse today was believed to have carried the money markets of Japan safely past the uncertainty of Friday, when the Tokio exchange was ordered closed for 24 hours.

Jumnosuke Inouye, minister of finance, claimed the government could not be held responsible for speculators against continued bearishness, the crisis and he cautioned action of some agents who were believed attempting to force the government to aid the situation.

The sensational decline in quotations of the Kanagawa Sanjin company, which had been suspended since the bourse suspension, The Kanagawa Sanjin company had cut wages by 30 to 40 percent April 5, which resulted in a strike.

Yamaji Muto, former president of the mills, and an organizer of the businessmen's party had stated that the Kanagawa Sanjin cut in wages was due in effect to the lifting of the gold embargo by the government.

U.S. PROBE IN BUS CRASH TO BE ASKED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 12.—(UP)—Senator Sam G. Bratton of New Mexico planned tonight to seek a senatorial inquiry into the causes of bus accidents.

The investigation will be sought as a consequence of the crash near here yesterday in which 19 persons were killed and 10 injured when a Santa Fe train hit a Pickwick Greyhound bus, he said.

Senator Bratton returned to Albuquerque from Washington for a week's rest to find a four-fold investigation into the cause of the disaster already in progress.

New Bill

Shortly after reaching Albuquerque he will send a telegram to Senator Couzens, chairman of the interstate commerce committee of the upper house, asking that the committee look into the causes of bus accidents.

The telegram he said will suggest that safety regulations for busses be included in a bill for regulation of transportation lines now before the committee of which Senator Couzens is chairman.

Senator Bratton said facts concerning Friday's bus crash will be called to the attention of the committee in the request for the investigation into this and other fatal bus accidents.

He expressed the opinion that bus companies should be required to obtain complete reports of names and addresses of passengers and carry indemnity insurance covering every passenger in cases where this is not being done.

New Probe

The working hours of the bus drivers, the mileage covered, the qualifications and all other factors affecting the safety of passengers should be looked into, he believes.

Already the Santa Fe railroad, the Pickwick Greyhound Stages, Inc., the district attorney's office ready for signature by next.

Pinole Election Set For Monday

PINOLE, April 12.—With four candidates in the field to fill three posts, the municipal election here Monday is expected to be one of the closest in the history of the town.

Mrs. Mary L. Amend, a resident of Pinole for many years is the only new candidate in the race for the post of city trustee.

Three incumbents seek reelection. They are: T. J. Ruff, Thomas Smith and E. M. Downer.

EL CERRITO TO VOTE MONDAY

All's quiet in El Cerrito on the eve of the municipal election. But residents of the city have an uncomfortable feeling that they are sitting upon a volcano that is ready to erupt at any minute.

It has been reliably reported that the fireworks will start tomorrow morning as candidates concentrate in their final drive for the votes that will be their hopes for a victory.

So far this year the election has been very quiet—unnaturally quiet. True there has been an undercurrent of rumors circulating about the city, but outside of that the situation has been quiet.

Two members of the city council whose terms expire this year are running for reelection. They are Phil A. Lee and Charles Zimmerman.

Three new candidates are in the race. They are Curtis Bowman, Hans Nissen and W. F. Huber.

Every candidate has expressed belief that he will win by a large majority.

But tomorrow's election will tell the tale.

CHICAGO FLIER BELIEVED LOST

CHICAGO, April 12.—UP—Little hope was held tonight for the safety of Ralph Fisher Skelton, Chicago artist-aviator, who has been missing since Thursday afternoon when he left Ann Arbor, Mich., presumably to fly across Lake Michigan to Chicago.

Cars Damaged In Accidents

Three cars were slightly damaged the result of skidding on wet streets during the rain storms late yesterday afternoon.

SHIP TO BE USED FOR SCHOOL

LONDON, April 11.—(UP)—Scrapping of two United States battleships and transformation of another to a training ship unit for war service was provided today in a report adopted by the first committee of the naval conference.

The report, which executes the 5-5-3 ratio for battleships, under the three-power agreement, provided the following:

Scrapping of the United States battleships Florida and Utah both of 21-825 tons, and built in 1921, retention of the Arkansas and Wyoming, both of 36,000 tons, built in 1912, for training purposes.

To Scrap Ships
Scrapping of the British battleships Marlborough, The Emperor of India and Benbow, all of 25,000 tons and built in 1914; and the battle cruiser Tiger of 28,500 tons, built in 1914; retention of the battleship Iron Duke, of 25,000 tons, and built in 1914, for training purposes.

Retention of the Japanese battle cruiser Hyasi, of 27,500 tons, and built in 1914, for training purposes.

Such a plan of scrapping would achieve the previously announced formula of 15 capital ships for each of the United States and Great Britain and nine for Japan.

To Scrap Florida
In stipulating that the United States should scrap the Florida and Utah, the report specified that one of the ships must be rendered unfit for warlike service within 12 months after the ratification of the five-power treaty, which the delegates hope to have.

TOUR WILL AID CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 11.—(UP)—Chicago's tangled financial problem, solved temporarily with $74,000,000 in citizen contributed cash, smoldered beneath the surface today as 35 business and financial leaders started a junket into the southwest to "redeem" the city's fair name from aspersions of crime and graft.

As the special train pulled out toward the sunny golf links of Hot Springs, Ark., Joseph Butler, acting superintendent of the public works department, was busy answering four telephones and trying to explain why the accumulation of garbage and refuse in the alleys had not been hauled away.

Butler, between calls, explained that his department is $2,750,000 short of funds, owing to the drastic budget cuts that came when the Chicago financial machine creaked to the brink of bankruptcy and was hauled back by Silas H. Strawn and his "rescue" committee.

The Association of Commerce leaders' tour will touch beside Hot Springs, Little Rock, Shreveport, Beaumont, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, Dallas, Waco, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Wichita and Kansas City, several of which have higher murder rates than Chicago.

The trip is only one of the dozen or so drives to "redeem" the city's reputation. Club women and Boy Scouts have organized themselves into "boost Chicago" clubs, and are pledged to do "missionary" work when and where they can. The real estate board and Better Business Bureau likewise have joined the campaign.

15 L. A. Reds Found Guilty

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(UP)—Fifteen communists, three of them women, were found guilty here today of participation in the demonstration here March 6.

The local demonstration was part of a national program of demonstrations against unemployment.

The verdict was handed up by Municipal Judge Charles Bogue, after a short deliberation by a jury of nine women and three men.

NO RELIEF FOR MIDWEST IN DRY SPELL

KANSAS CITY, April 12.—UP—A sultry Sunday was promised most of the southwest where an unseasonal heat wave, climaxing a period of critical drought over much of the grain country, worried farmers and caused cities to swelter.

Weather forecasters, after recording many all-time temperature marks in the past week of 90-degree weather, mopped their brows bent over their charts, and sighed—but not with relief.

Instead, although thermometers receded to between 80 and 85 degree high marks today, forecasts promised only scattered showers increased humidity which would intensify the heat, with not a sign of a real rain storm between the Mississippi and the mountains.

Slight showers brought only spotted and temporary relief in the dry and dusty plains country extending from northern Nebraska to southern Oklahoma.

Drought conditions have become increasingly critical daily in the fertile grain areas and pasturage sections of Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma, although Texas to date has reported no extreme lack of moisture. In Kansas alone, far mechanists estimated the wheat growers were losing $1,000,000 daily by drought.

The situation, according to weather men is without parallel in the history of their observance, dating back more than two score years. Severe drought has existed before, but never so extensive in the usual month of showers.

Great clouds of dust have been carried over the farm country. Motorists in Oklahoma found such thick dust cast up from their dirt highways that it was necessary to travel with headlights gleaming in the daytime. It settled in homes, and persons in the cities flicked it from their eyes while fleeing through traffic.

Wheat fields in the drought stricken section became expanses of yellowed and dried sprouts instead of the usual brilliant green and tender corn sprouts remained hidden by acres of plowed and dusty earth.

Livestock men of western Kansas were hauling water to thirsty cattle.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

YOUTH SHOT IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

BERKELEY, April 12.—The determination of Frank Clapponi, 1517 Union street, El Cerrito, is today credited with saving the life of his companion, Louis Anderson, 15, 1337 Elm street, El Cerrito, who was critically wounded by the explosion of a home made gun.

The two boys, both of them pupils of the Roosevelt Junior high school in Richmond, were hunting in the Berkeley hills with a .22 calibre rifle Anderson had made out of parts of other guns.

The gun failing to explode, Anderson stopped to examine it. It suddenly exploded and a lead shot was thrown into the boys' abdomen, according to the story told police by Clapponi.

Clapponi in desperation at seeing his companion fall, hoisted the heavier boy to his shoulders and struggled to a nearby house. Clapponi told police, he at first tried to help Anderson to walk, but when the wounded youth was unable to, Clapponi, staggering, struggling, and sometimes falling, finally carried Anderson to the home of V. E. Felthouse, who called the police ambulance.

At the Alta Bates hospital, where Anderson was taken, attendants declared that the prompt action of Clapponi, undoubtedly saved the life of the older youth.

Clapponi, however, did not end his good deeds with assisting his comrade to the hospital. Knowing that Anderson had a paper route he was supposed to deliver this afternoon, Clapponi hurried and delivered the papers.

GRAFT PROBE TO REOPEN

OAKLAND, April 12.—The Oakland paving graft investigation, brought to a climax with the recent resignation of William H. Parker, Oakland street commissioner, will be resumed by the Alameda County Grand Jury Monday.

Featuring the investigation, will be the trial of three former deputy sheriffs, alleged to have been involved in a county-wide vice protection ring. Prosecution witnesses, Mrs. Fred Smith, Ernest Q. Norman, Fred Haase and Floyd Van Noy, some of whom have already given startling information in the investigation, will reiterate their stories.

The three deputies, A. R. Shurtliff, J. L. Davis and J. J. Collier, and Jack and Frank Gardella, alleged Livermore bootleggers, will be on trial for bribery, and conspiracy to bribe.

It is believed that the trial of Cromwell L. Ormsby, former Oakland attorney, charged with bribery and conspiracy to bribe, which was scheduled for Monday, will be postponed at the request of District Attorney, Earl Warren.

Rodeo Man Killed In Oakland Crash

OAKLAND, April 12.—Mangled under a Southern Pacific electric train, following a collision between the train and his automobile, A. Pacheco of Rodeo, died at the Oakland Emergency hospital today.

The accident occurred at Grove and Seventh streets and Pacheco, who, according to witnesses, was driving south on Grove streets, drove directly into the path of the train.

He was thrown beneath the trucks of the first coach, and dragged more than 200 feet before the train could come to a stop.

The remains have been brought to Curry's parlors in Richmond, where funeral services are pending.

Pacheco is survived by his wife, Marie, and six children, Antonio, Joseph, Joaquin, Nellie, Eddie and Alice, all of Rodeo.

If He Could Take a Census of the Her's!

UNCLE SAM has just sent out 100,000 census takers, whose mission is something more than to count noses. These enumerators will ask everybody some twenty-five extremely personal questions. Now it can—in fact, must—be told, whether we own a home or a radio; whether we are home-makers; how old we were when we married.

There are at least twenty-five things about women which men are dying to know; as well as the other way around. Since census-taking is the order of the day, why should not each sex try it on, privately and unofficially, with the other? Yesterday we printed twenty-five questions which girls would like to put to the men they know. To-day we submit the following questionnaire for young men to use—if they dare—in taking their census of the young women of their acquaintance:

1. Just because I take you to a dinner and a show now and then, or give you a ring on the phone when I've nothing else to do, or talk to you as I'd talk to any good fellow and good pal, do you expect that sooner or later, I'll ask you to marry me?
2. Are you looking for a husband, and do you think I'm it?
3. Are you singing me a heavy line for what you can get out of it, until somebody you like better comes along?
4. Do you believe in getting—with anybody else, I mean?
5. Don't you agree with me that it's a great mistake for a man to get married when he's earning only a small salary and has his own way to make?
6. Will you think I'm a little tightwads?
7. I buy balcony seats and don't call for you in a taxi?
8. When you said you were out with your girl friend, that evening I called three times and didn't get you—well, WHERE you?
9. Do the women in your family get about as they grow older?
10. Are you willing to admit that there are lots of things about which a man knows better than a girl?
11. If you should marry a fellow, would you be willing to throw up your job, or would you want to keep on working as you do now?
12. If you did resign, and the man you married wasn't rich, would you be willing to cook and keep house in a small apartment?
13. Do you know how?
14. If you married and stopped working, would you think your husband ought to give you, right off the bat, all the things you can afford to get for yourself on your own salary?
15. Would you want to go places and do things every night after you were married?
16. Would you be a back-seat driver?
17. Do you believe in whining, nagging or crying in order to get your own way?
18. Would you be willing to live anywhere my business might send me—even if it were a long way off from your family?
19. Do you mess up your face with cold cream every night?
20. Do you think a fellow signs away all his personal liberty when he gets the marriage register?
21. If we were married, would you discuss my deficiencies and our differences with your mother?
22. Could you be happy without a car?
23. Would you rather get in debt for anything than go without it?
24. Are you naturally jealous and suspicious?
25. Can you keep me from getting tired of you?

HER DREAM MAN

FOR weeks and weeks I had to listen to May's raving about her Dream Man.

I learned about his looks, his clothes. Even his business suits. And I felt that I had to meet him. I would recognize him at once. Homeward bound from her day's work. May always met the Man of her Dreams.

She didn't know his name. Or anything about him. But still she felt that. He was "meant for her."

Her one desire was to have some one introduce them.

Or to have Fate take a hand. And it came to pass.

That snow fell heavily.

"HANDSOME IS"—
She uses vanishing creams.
So her wrinkles all will vanish.
She uses lotions by the score.
All those tantrum-lines to banish.

But her face remains the same.
Creams and lotions in despite—
For her face is just the mirror

CLEANER AND PURER MOVIES

WILL HAYS has sent the movies out to the dry cleanser's and they are coming back sweet and pure. When you read that hereafter the films will have no emphasis on sex, no sympathy with crime, the scenes of passion will be eliminated, profanity forbidden and the use of liquor restricted, it sounds like the scenario of "The Ten Commandments." We wish Brother Hays luck.

Every movie producer of importance has taken the pledge to love, honor and obey the new rules. But wait till they start making pictures under them. If there is going to be no sex talkies, there's a great chance for an oyster to star in place of Greta Garbo.

And poor Clara Bowl. When Clara comes on the lot and starts churning up "it," they will reach for the fire extinguishers. If Clara expects to stay in the films, she will have to play Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and die inside of three reels.

But we are pleased with one rule in Mr. Hays's collection. That is the one that there will be no comic clergymen in pictures. There are enough of them in public now.

Coming to your favorite theatre soon—MAKING CLAY POTTERY IN ARIZONA. (Based on the sensational picture on the sensational novel "Scarlet Passion.") See how urns are baked by the sun's glorious rays! See Gloria Swanson painting sunflowers on parlor jardiniere! See Lon Chaney rescued from the glazing ovens by the Salvation Army and a hook and ladder truck! The most sensational picture released this year. All sounds and 100 per cent. pure.

All next week! The super-epic feature of "Hindoo." MAYABASKET WRAPPING IN SPRING. (Adapted from the famous best seller "Shared and Seized.") A film for all the family. the Poor Indian!

YOU KNOW, FELLOWS, THERE'S BEEN SOME MIGHTY INTERESTING STUFF COMING OUT OF THAT INDIAN WITCHCRAFT TRIAL IN BUFFALO. HAVE YOU BEEN READING THE PAPERS?

AND THEY THINK THAT IF THEY TAKE DIRT FROM A WARRIOR'S GRAVE AND SPRINKLE IT ABOUT THEIR HOMES THE WARRIOR WILL FIGHT OFF THE EVIL SPIRITS. CAN YOU BEAT THAT?

IT SEEMS INCREDIBLE THAT RIGHT HERE IN AMERICA IN THIS DAY AND AGE PEOPLE STILL BELIEVE IN WITCHCRAFT AND CHARMS.

IT'S ASTONISHING THAT SUCH BELIEFS CAN SURVIVE. YOU'D THINK THE ONWARD MARCH OF CIVILIZATION WOULD WIPE OUT SUCH SILLY SUPERSTITIONS.

Making the Most of It

"ARE you making the most of your face? It's the only face you have—the only one you're ever going to have, and it's mighty important that you treat it right."

"Did you get one of these cars?" I think it is most amusing," laughed Mrs. Lane as she greeted her neighbor, Mrs. Sinclair, in the lobby of the residential hotel where they both made their home. They always met each morning when they came down for their mail.

"That's frank advertising—it certainly goes directly to the meat of the matter, or to be more exact, the face of the matter," she continued to read—"let me show you how to make the most of your good features, and the least of your poor ones. I'm giving a free lecture in the Town Hall, at 3 P. M. This card will admit you."

"Oh, I've heard of this young woman," said Mrs. Sinclair, "and they say she is splendid. If you're nothing else to do how would you like to go?" "Very much, I'll join you here at 2:30," replied her neighbor as they parted.

And that was the way Cora Crane built up her business.

The previous winter she had become interested in "The Art of Make-Up" as taught by a well-known cosmetician. He specialized in teaching women how to emphasize their good features, and minimize their faulty ones, what powders and rouges to use for sports, day and evening, and made suggestions that would help them to create and maintain a smart appearance on all occasions. Cora was able to get some private instructions from this man by working with him as an assistant during his lectures and demonstrations. She found it tremendously interesting.

She then secured a line of good powders, creams and rouges, assistants, and the various toilet accessories so dear to the heart of the modern woman. In the local paper she inserted an advertisement stating that she had been an assistant to this authority, and offered to give one trial treatment free—using her own materials. This met with instant success, and invariably resulted in an order for some of her line.

She next perfected a group of three lectures calling them "Artistic Make-Up versus War Paint." As she had a very great deal of personal charm, and a very chic appearance, and her talks were not only instructive but witty and interesting, she soon became well known among the club women of her town. It became quite a fad to engage her for her lecture course, guaranteeing her a certain number. To add to the interest of her listeners, she used a beautiful live model to illustrate her art and recommendations. These different points of contact gave her a chance to acquire a large and valuable list for the future. For the many other progressive women, she had always in the back of her mind, the idea of opening her own little place, and five of the best selling her cosmetics had no direct representation in the city, she secured a month's engagement from them for a five minute talk each day over the radio to introduce their products. So very effective and interesting was the little sales talk which she gave, and so numerous were the letters of inquiry to the firm, that she was engaged for a second month. This gave her another chance to add to her list for future use as she had direct access to all letters and calls to the broadcasting station.

Two of the leading shops in town gave a style show each month—lasting two days each—and she was featured as a beauty consultant. Then requests began to come in to make up women for fancy dress parties or the more formal affairs. She filled such engagements only on condition that she could use her own materials. Quite recently she had her husband along the street with her smart little "make-up" bag under her arm. She gave me a merry smile and a wave of her hand as she passed. "I'm on my way to make up the bride and her attendants for the Grace wedding (quite the smartest affair for years), so I must stop."

This same idea can be carried out in many other lines—first by learning the job, then by knowing how to get the contacts that get the trade, and lastly by having a place to take care of the trade when it has outgrown two pairs of hands.

"DAD, who is the weather man?" Is the man in the moon the weather man?"

"Of course not. Haven't I told you there isn't any Man in the Moon?" "Well, who is the weather man?" "There are lots of them. Uncle Sam has one or more in each city, and in other places."

"Do they make the weather, Dad? How do they make the weather?"

"No, they don't make the weather. No man can make the weather. They only predict it."

"How do they predict it?"

"By means of thermometers, barometers and other instruments."

"Do they predict the weather right?"

"About half the time."

"They miss half the time! Why do people call them weather men?"

"Oh, go to bed."

Spring Cleaning Hints

After polishing the floor keep it from becoming scratched—put pieces from old felt hats and glue them on the bottom of chair legs, table legs, rockers and all movable furniture that is without casters.

When beating the overstuffed furniture or a mattress place a slightly dampened old sheet over it to absorb the dust and prevent it from scattering around.

Little Household Helps

YOU will be able to use your small saucepans on the gas stove without having them tip over if you place under them one of those coarse wire squares that can be purchased for a dime. With one of these over the opening of the gas range you will be able to use the smallest of cooking vessels and, as the wire protector is open work, there is no restriction to the flame, so the cooking process is not hindered as it is with the iron plates.

Protecting the curtains from rain and dust when windows are wide open is a problem for most housekeepers. There is now a covering on the market that will do this effectively. The curtain, also overdraped, if desired, is enclosed in the protector, which is of waterproof material in a large range of colors and the draperies are absolutely protected.

Chiffon Prints

NATURAL flowers, tulips, daffodils, morning glories and stately lilies bloom from the new summer chiffon prints. These are in delicate pastel tints on light or dark backgrounds. A new group of chiffon patterns has exquisitely blurred designs on white grounds in a soft watery effect. The chiffon print is reaffirmed in summer formal fashions.

FOLLIES OF FASHION

Padded Shoulders Accentuate Width

By Marguerite Barnes

THE newest tailors have the shoulders quite heavily padded, as illustrated in the suit at right. If the shoulders are naturally wide and square set, this fashion is too masculine and emphasizes the shoulder width. For this type of figure a tailored suit should have no padding, and the shoulder seams should be set in rather far. The suit at left is much better for the square-shouldered woman. The scarf takes away from the effect of width, and the softer and higher line at the back of the neck makes the shoulders appear to slope more. The small cape sloping toward the waist is also becoming to her.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

TO THOSE of you who have reached the sunset of life and are looking for a bit of consolation regarding death, I recommend a book by Basil King called "Abraham's Bosom."

When the man about whom the book is written takes to his bed for the last time he does some reflecting and I quote a passage from these thoughts:

"By the time they had three children she (his wife) had formed the habit of correcting the thousand and one small faults into which he fell without knowing it. The way he ate; the way he sat at the table; the way he held a book; the way he coughed; the way he yawned; the way he shook hands; the way he pronounced certain of his words; the way he gave out notices in church; they way he allowed other men to walk over him—these, with a hundred similar details, had become the sphere of her loving, conjugal discipline."

I am giving you this in case you are one of the many men who really know you are being "bossed" and who have always had the idea that you were the only one in the universe who was so bossed!

Feather Trimmings

ANY smart hats of spring wear a feather. It may be in the form of a quill quills that come out over the cheek in a most becoming manner or it may be a little combed position that simulates a quill. The newest version of the clip quill is shown on a hat with clips of feathers instead of jewels.

Washington Day by Day

WASHINGTON

Quiet and wholly unobtrusively a new figure is assuming stature in the Senate. Charles McNary, Senator from Oregon, is emerging as a Republican leader of whom a lot may be heard in the battles ahead.

Charles McNary looks like a blond youngster to the average person just gazing down from the galleries. At close range streaks of gray appear in the blond hair, lines in his face bespeak years in politics.

Withal, McNary, in spite of his fifty-six years, has the figure of a Donald Brand.

To know Charles McNary you must talk with him. The best place to meet him is on that lovely place of his a few miles out of Salem, Ore. There you find an attractive and charming McNary ready with a nice lunch, and after that a view of the prairie orchard and the miniature golf course where McNary practices in the hope of some day beating Pat Harrison, Jim Couzens or Morris Sheppard.

After lunch he will take you out to a roost built around an old tree. From that vantage point he will show the country and talk politics as he feels it in Oregon.

In Washington, D. C. Senator McNary is a bit too modest to assert himself. He has done more real fighting for the Hoover Administration in the past twelve months than all of the Henry Allens, Arthur Vandenberg and Fred Walcott. McNary's loyalty has been as great. His influence has been far greater. His speeches have been productive of the best results for the Hoover ideas.

There is not much doubt any more that McNary is slated to be the next Republican leader in the Senate.

Jim Watson of Indiana has fought as valiantly as one of his training permitted. Nothing he has said or done in the Senate could be twisted into antagonism to Mr. Hoover. For some reason or other, Senator Watson obtains no credit for that.

When the White House thinks it has a tough problem on its hands, it does not phone Watson or Smoot or even Vice President Curtis.

Its calls are to Senator Henry Allen of Kansas; Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan; or Fred Walcott of Connecticut, each of whom controls one vote in the United States Senate.

What is the result of White House strategy of that sort?

Three Senatorial youngsters are afforded an opportunity to strut!

A half dozen Senatorial veterans get sore and accept speaking engagements in Providence, Pittsburgh or Cincinnati.

What does Washington care a bit less about rushing his so by morning golf games? Jim Watson is more expansive about doctors' fees.

When urged to forego that at the Willard for political talkies, Senator Reed Smoot becomes awfully busy on official business.

The Allen-Vandenberg-Walcott set-up of "master minds" gets around finally to being able to advise the President what he ought to do just as soon as they have ascertained what Borah and Norris and Brookhart have up their sleeves and what Watson and Smoot and Curtis believe should be done about it.

Save the Handles

WHAT do you do with the old broom and a tool handles? Throw them away or use them for firewood? How do you do that again. The long handle can be made into a good curtain pole or a closet pole for hanging garments. It will prove a handy rug beater. Put a hole through one end with a gimlet, put through this a loop of strong twine to hang up the handle and you will find many uses for it in the home, especially during housecleaning days when heavy furniture must be moved, pictures taken down and so on.

You are a commiserate if you will find the old spade handle a real convenient digger for setting out plants in the garden—just carefully form the end into a conical point, then sandpaper and oil the handle.

Short tool handles make good plugs for kitchen.

Taffeta Hats

The first spring hat is not always of straw. Taffeta is shown in new models copied from Paris originals and is consistent with winter coats as well as early tulle. The taffeta hat is small and conforms to the off-the-face lines.

Only a few years ago salads were a novelty on American tables. Now, they are not only an accepted and expected part of luncheons and dinners, but they have even assumed such importance that they have caused many hostesses to drop another course from their menus.

In California and Florida soup is rarely served, and the popularity of the fruit cocktail is waning. Instead a salad is served as the introductory course of a meal. Rarely are cream dressings served on these salads. They are usually crisp greens, thin tomatoes or asparagus garnished with pimiento strips, and served with a simple French dressing.

Sometimes they are merely a mixture of assorted greens—lettuce, endive, water cross and chervil, with finely chopped beets and a tablespoonful of pimiento mixed in the dressing.

While the Southern States have substituted salad for the first course at dinner, in the Northern States an elaborate salad has usurped the place of dessert. Combination salads that serve both as salad and dessert are usually made of several kinds of fruit, and a heavy cream dressing. This is thoroughly chilled in choppe, ice packed with salt, or placed in the tray of an electric refrigerator until nearly frozen.

KAREN HOLLIS

Here is a recipe for an excellent salad of this type:

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD
1 cup (or one small can) pineapple segments
2 small oranges (or one large one)
1 small can white cherries
2 marshmallows
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 pint heavy cream

Cut the fruit and marshmallows into small sections. Whip the cream until stiff and mix the mayonnaise into it. Combine the fruit and the dressing and put in tray of electric refrigerator for about half an hour, or pack in crushed ice and salt for forty-five minutes.

TALMADGE IN FIRST TALKIE HERE

As the initial vehicle for her talking picture career, Norma Talmadge, star of "Camille," "The Woman Disputed," "Smilin' Through" and other big successes of the silent screen, has chosen a story of the Great White Way, its lunatics, its escapades and its gay, colorful sons and daughters who make up the famous show world of Broadway. The picture, "New York Nights," will open Tuesday at the Fox-California theater.

This racy, dynamic tale of court-aging little chorus girls, struggling song writers, scheming racketeers, producers, and the rank and file of human oddities who evolve Yeatts, was honored at a surprise ken from the Broadway stage success entitled "The Pan Alley," by Hugh Hefner, Stange, Directed by Lewis Milestone, maker of "Two Arabian Nights" and "The Back of the Hand." This United Artists picture is played by a cast of magnificent stage and screen notables including, beside Miss Talmadge, Gilbert Rolfe, and John Wray, Lilyan Tashman, Mary Doran and Roscoe Doran and Roscoe Karns.

The plot treats of the martial hardships of Jill Yeatts (Norma Talmadge), a pretty chorus girl, married to a pretty meaning on week-kneed husband, Fred (Gilbert Rolfe) who has a passion for love with Fred, pretends she is going to go away. Fred counters however by playing the latest number he and his partner Johnny Dolan (Roscoe Karns) have written.

Also on the program is a talking comedy "He Loved The Ladies" with Taylor Holmes.

U.S. TO PROBE HUGE STEEL MERGER

WASHINGTON, April 12.—UP—Government machinery is grappling with half a dozen giant industries, whose rapid growth is pushing to the limit the power of the federal agencies to safeguard the public interest.

Next week the department of justice will begin its investigation of the billion dollar steel merger between Bethlehem and Youngstown Steel and Tube, to determine whether its 20 percent control of the nation's steel business would jeopardize the public's right to buy in a fairly competitive market.

Wednesday the Federal Trade commission will go into the affairs of the Electric Bond and Share company, and the millions of dollars it controls through its hierarchy of holding companies by which it is alleged was first set into electric fire and power to inflate the bills of the household.

Investigators of the House interstate commerce committee are gathering information regarding railroad holding companies exempt from federal control through which at least one member of the Interstate Commerce commission charges large railroads are secretly buying up rivals and threatening to wreck the commission's plan for consolidation to provide order in competition without cut throat.

Finally, Chairman Couzens of the Senate Interstate Commerce committee is maneuvering to bring up for a vote next week his bill to create a new full time federal power commission to replace the present one composed of cabinet officers, who Couzens alleges pay little attention to water power problems and permit the hydro-electric industry to run away with the alleged federal regulatory machinery.

A list of these problems, to which Rader and some others could be added, converge on the gigantic issue now taking shape as to whether, on all or else, the Federal government can see that private enterprise for profits is not allowed to rob the public.

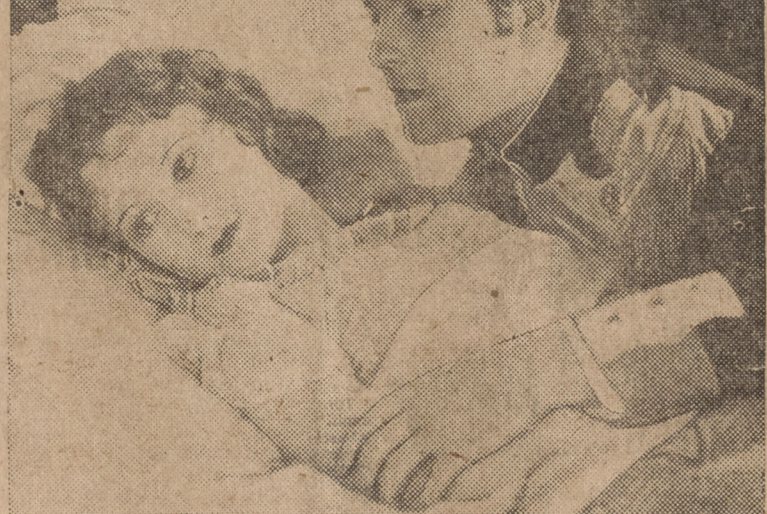

Business on its side will register its case in full discussions the following week when the United States chamber of commerce assembles the nation's industrial leaders here for its annual convention.

DEVIL MAY CARE SHOWS NEW NOVARRO

Talking and singing pictures, which have sounded "the death knell" of many attractive but inarticulate screen players, have incidentally been the means of saving one who from all indications was on the verge of trading in a screen career for that of the concert stage.

The principal of this unprecedented phenomenon is none other than Ramon Novarro who all the while he was engaged in making motion pictures kept an assiduous eye on his vocal scales and exercises, a habit which had been ingrained in him during his childhood days.

Despite the fact that with each increasing picture, Novarro's press notices grew more flattering and his relations with Metro Goldwyn Mayer more and more pleasant, even to the extent of their granting him a half year to make pictures, with the other half to do what he wanted with, this peculiar young man decided that he must sing and inasmuch as singing was not then an integral part of the motion picture industry it looked as though he were going to pack his bags.

And then came, not the dawn, but sound pictures, and the day was saved for Novarro admirers. Having found that singing and the cinema were not incompatible, Novarro remained on the Metro lot to sing and act in the highly praised "The Pagan," whose theme song of the same name netted close to $150,000 to its composers of which a large part of the credit has been attributed to Novarro's rendition.

This was the start of the new Novarro, Nov came the announcement that his second singing picture, which is incidentally also his first all talking production, entitled "Devil May Care" will open today at the Fox-California theater containing not one song for Novarro as was the case in "The Pagan," but half a dozen melodies including ballads, comic songs and love songs. Inasmuch as the songs were considered one of the most important items of the picture a particular endeavor was made to find a composer of established reputation, finally choice finally resting on Herbert Stothart who wrote the popular songs of "Rose Marie."

Also on the program will be a Charlie Chase comedy entitled "The Real McCoy" and Fox talking News.

San Francisco, April 12.—New improved train schedules to become effective June 1, which will cut the Overland Limited's running schedule both east and westbound between Oakland and Chicago, were announced by the Southern Pacific railroad company yesterday.

According to Felix S. McGinnis, vice president of the company in charge of the system, passenger traffic, the westbound schedule of the San Francisco Limited, running between Los Angeles and Chicago, will also be reduced.

McGinnis stated a reduction of one hour and 3 minutes will be made in the westbound time of the Overland Limited, with a cut of 50 minutes in its eastbound schedule. This will make the running time 55 hours and 20 minutes westbound, and 57 hours and 10 minutes eastbound, instead of the 58 hour schedule now in effect both ways. The westbound running time of the San Francisco Limited and the Golden State Limited, will be cut one hour.

The Golden Coast on the Oakland-Chicago run, will have two hours later from the Sixteenth Street station in Oakland when the new schedule becomes effective, although there will be no reduction in the time of that train.

It was also revealed that the Apache will cut its eastbound time one hour, in connection with the improvement of the company's Los Angeles-Chicago service.

TWO ESCAPE IN AIR CRASH

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—(UP)—Two planes collided 5,000 feet in the air late today and their two fabled pilots leaped to safety with parachutes.

They were William Dohrman, a recent U. of C. graduate and son of A. B. C. Dohrman, wealthy San Francisco merchant, and Henry Michaels, of Menlo Park. The two young men, close friends, took off together from the Curtiss-Wright flying field at Berkeley.

They circled the field several times, seeking altitude and when both planes were about a mile high—one was seen to overtake the other. A moment later, two biplane wings were seen to interlock and the planes faltered in midair. Then they fell apart and nosed earthward in slow spirals, with the wings of each badly crumpled.

The two pilots jumped at almost the same instant and their two chutes were seen to open up. The two men landed uninjured.

CHEVROLET SIX WINSECONOMY SWEEPSTAKES

"Striking evidence of the economical transportation provided by the Chevrolet six is afforded in the results of the recent Gilmore Blue-Green economy run from Los Angeles to Wrightwood, in which sweepstakes and class honors were won by Mrs. Paul Lawrence in her 1930 Chevrolet six coach," according to officials of Connell and Shumate, local Chevrolet dealers.

"This victory bears out the advertising claims made for Chevrolet economy, better than 20 miles to the gallon. The winning figure for the Chevrolet was 36.71 ton miles per gallon of gasoline, this figure being computed on a basis of car weight, distance traveled and gasoline consumed.

"The circuitous route followed from Los Angeles to Wrightwood was 200 miles in length, and as the Chevrolet used but 9 3/4 gallons for the trip the average, in ordinary terms, was better than 20 miles to the gallon.

"It is interesting to note, too, that during the run the Chevrolet six did not use any oil or water. This victory of the Chevrolet six was won in a field of forty-two cars, representing all price classes and including the four, six and eight cylinder types.

"The power plant in the Chevrolet six has numerous improvements over the well known valve-in-head engine introduced last year. The engine is fully inclosed, with a high compression non-deforming head, and develops 50 horsepower.

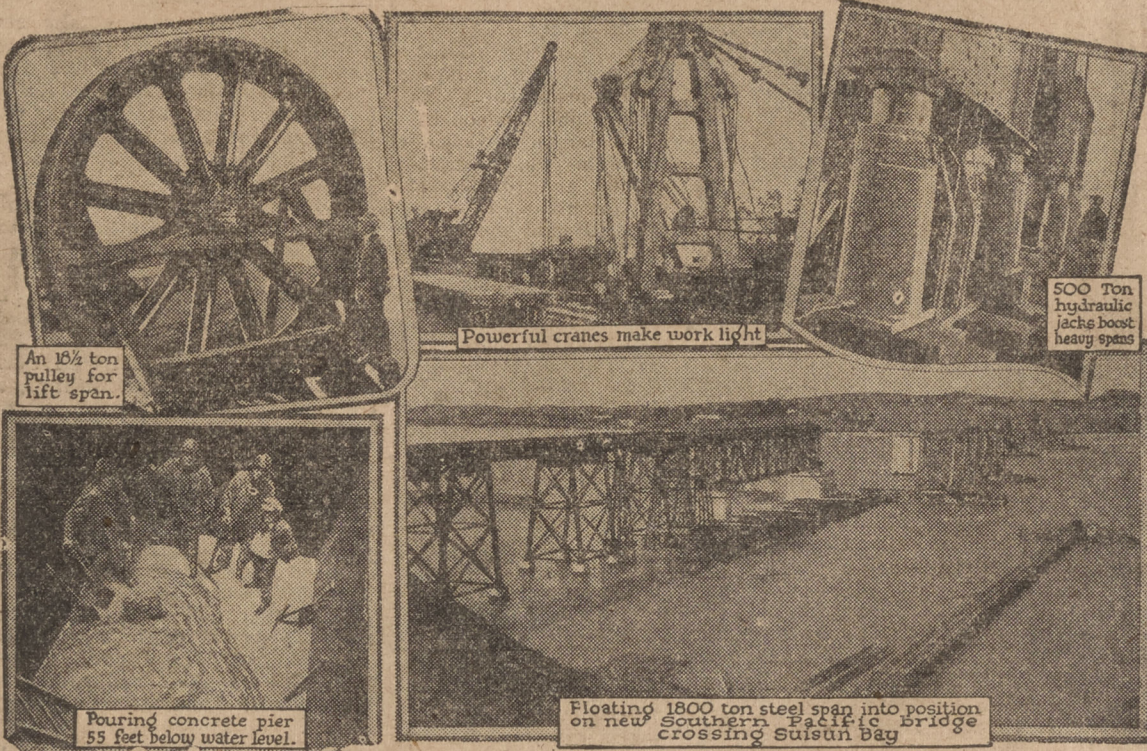

"Economical features of the Chevrolet six do not alone explain the popularity of the car with the 1-350,000 owners who purchased Chevrolets last year, for it has also brought new measures of comfort and ease of handling into the low-priced field.

"Improvements made in the 1930 line, include numerous progressive features in the engine, chassis and body."

NEW OIL WELLS BOOM TEXAS STOCK

DALLAS, Tex., April 12.—UP—This state which pioneered in United States oil production has never known such a yield of petroleum wealth as it is now experiencing.

A survey today showed numerous new fields over the state in which a surprisingly small percent of holes have proved dry.

More hectic and picturesque eras of oil field history have been recorded, when roustabout flocked to new locations to laugh at the law and fear only the six-guns of an iron-nerved sheriff. But now a new chapter is being written.

"Civilized" oil men are plumbing the earth in a business-like manner for the liquor wealth.

In at least five Texas fields new derricks are going up and drills downward, with activity spurred by satisfactory production.

Van is synonymous with oil in Texas. Since the first drilling began in Van Zandt county several months ago the grimy mushroom village has largely occupied the oil stage of Texas. With monotonous regularity dispatches have announced "Van gets another well."

Yesterday's spectacular blowing in of a Pure Oil company well brought the total to 22 without a dry hole. The Graham field offered Van some stout competition this week for attention. When the R. J. McClellan No. 1 blew in, workmen were unable to control the tremendous pressure for two days. The semi-wildcat spouted 5000 barrels of oil per day and 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas high above the derrick before it was harnessed. A few small producers had preceded it.

Bombs Hurled In India Revolt

BOMBAY, India, April 12.—UP—Two bombings occurred near Bombay today, while followers of Mahatma M. K. Gandhi prepared for a great demonstration of civil disobedience tomorrow, at which it was hoped many thousands would gather to violate the salt laws.

One bomb exploded in a suburban milk train near the Victoria terminus. The other went off later in the third class waiting room of the Byulla station, injuring two persons. One of those injured was arrested and several large pieces of explosives were found in his pockets. Police believed the explosives were intended for bombs to be used in connection with the great Indian Peninsular railway strike. Sirajuddin was recalled as the informer in the notorious Bombay Dacoity or bandit gang case of 1928.

A thousand volunteers in Gandhi's campaign demonstrate here today. Plans were made for an elaborate program tomorrow, concluding "National Week" during which demonstrations, particularly the making of salt in violation of the government monopoly, have occupied in many parts of India.

The program will conclude with a mass meeting at the seashore near Bombay, at which everybody has been invited to come with pots, fill them with sea water, and make salt.

Meanwhile, the boycotting of government salt, foreign cloth, liquor and the ostracism of government officials continued to spread.

BUICK PARTY TOURS NEW ROAD

Generally considered one of the most important projected improvements in the Pacific Coast's progressive program for increasing highway capacity, the new Ridge Route in California, officials assert, will be constructed with all the speed that legal routine and the best engineering practices will permit. Following a painstaking survey in the field for the selection of the easiest and shortest practicable route, bids have been called for by the California State Highway commission for construction of the first seven and one-half mile unit.

The new Ridge Route, an important highway stretch between San Francisco and Los Angeles, is declared destined to become one of the country's most modern mountain highways. The relocation through the mountain ranges between Gorman and Castaic post-office will be 28.5 miles in length, 7.3 miles shorter than the present Ridge Route — and will also follow lower levels through the canyons. In addition to shortened distance, the new Ridge Route will have only one-fifth the number of curves, with ten times greater radius, and the maximum grade will be six per cent as compared to ten.

The pavement will be 22 1-2 feet wide on a grade that will be 40 feet minimum width. This will permit widening later by the construction of "shoulders" if traffic conditions demand.

Road Surveyed.

Following information released to western regional offices of the Buick Motor company last week by the California State Highway commission, a scout party in a 1930 Buick Coupe was dispatched to the scene of the projected improvement. And, like all motorists interested in modern highway advancement, the road scouts returned enthusiastic over the new road.

According to what it will mean, according to C. C. Kratzer, 202 Tenth street, local Buick dealer.

The new route will follow a general course west from the present Ridge, running from one to five miles from the parallel. Sections of the proposed route are already traversed by county roads, which, however, are unattractive to the ordinary pavement tourist. The Buick road scout reported. Proceeding southerly the scouts turned off the present highway about three miles north of Gorman and followed a little used country road in a southwesterly direction over what will be approximately the route of the re-located highway. This stretch of the trip terminated at the General Petroleum Company pumping plant estimated about midway on the new route.

Beautiful Scenery.

From Peace Valley, near the southern end of which is located the pumping station, the new road will climb to its highest summit, 3350 feet. From here a descent of about five miles is made along the Canada de Los Alamos creek. The elevation here is about 3000 feet, the creek winding through pine country on the west slope of Liebre Mountain.

Then, for four miles, the new road will run near the Santa Fe railway survey to Piru Creek canyon, from whence a gradual ascent of six miles is made through Oak Flat, a beautiful little valley timbered with Live Oak. Next a descent of six miles is made through Violin Canyon to terminate at a junction with the present highway one-quarter of a mile north of Castle post office.

The greatest of this last grade may be realized from the fact that in six miles the road descends from 2300 feet elevation to 1500 feet.

Being in the canyons, the verdure and timber on the new route are heavier than found on the ridge of today. The new highway will pass the outlets of Liebre Gulch and Bear Trap canyon, both of which are rich in rugged scenery.

Cost High.

On the old road the total curvatures are 35,141 feet as compared to 7500 on the new. The average radius of the present Ridge curves is 70 feet, while on the new roads, these turns will swing 800 feet. The adverse grades on the new road now total 2220 feet. The new Ridge will have only 940.

The first estimate of the cost of the new road was placed at $3,900,000, but to build the road such as the rapidly increasing travel demands, $5,000,000 probably will be needed.

It is estimated that the construction period of the new Ridge Route will be three years. In addition to state funds there will be Federal aid as the new Ridge will become part of U. S. Highway No. 99.

BUS CRASH TO BE PROBED BY U.S.

The New Mexico railroad commission is seeking to determine the cause of Friday's crash.

While the official investigations were pursued, morgues where the 19 bodies of the dead lay, were flooded with telegrams and telephone calls from anxious relatives or friends of the victims.

Four of those killed in the bus crash, which occurred at Pueblo Isleta, 12 miles south of here, remain unidentified. Baggage was being checked tonight in the hope that some mark of identification would be found.

Two Are Hurt

The four bodies were so badly mangled when the bus was hit by the Santa Fe train that the morgue attendants expressed fear that they ever would be identified.

Only two of the injured, W. R. Perkins, of Pueblo, Colo., and Hollis Huff, of Oklahoma City, Okla., have been able to leave hospitals.

Huff was taken to a morgue today and identified the body of his wife Mrs. Huff. His eight-year old son, Kenneth, was also killed.

Four Are Critical.

Four of the injured were said to be in critical condition and some doubt was expressed that they would recover.

District Attorney Eugene Lujan announced today that an inquest would be held Monday at 10 a. m. at the court house here.

One of the victims was identified today as C. E. Mallory of Folsom, Calif. Papers on his body revealed that he had been discharged from Folsom prison on April 9.

Bus Behind Schedule.

Although some of the stories told by witnesses were that the bus, driven by E. D. Williams of Albuquerque, who was killed, attempted to beat the train at the crossing, others differed.

The engineer and members of the train crew who were in a position to view the crash, said that the train was traveling less than 40 miles an hour and that the driver of the bus apparently put on speed in an attempt to cross the tracks in front of the train.

Officials of the Pickwick Greyhound lines said here that Williams was more than an hour behind on his schedule. The bus left Los Angeles at midnight on the trip to Denver Wednesday.

for Economical Transportation

to choose a SIX!

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no rumble or drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting, longer-satisfying automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No other automobile consumes less gasoline and oil. No other shows a lower expense for tires. And no other car costs less for service.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high resale value.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes; a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear; four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a heavy, rigidly-braced channel-steel frame. And it gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance . . . and for economical transportation!

U. S. BOY LEADS CAMBRIDGE TO VICTORY

LONDON, April 12.—UP—An American boy who weighs 125 pounds barked orders to eight husky British oarsmen today and they feathered the water of the Thames to score a victory for Cambridge in the annual race with Oxford.

The boy is Robert Swartout. He is a son of a famous New York architect. Small of stature, Robert Swartout played an enormous part in the forty-first victory scored by Cambridge in 82 contests. His strategy enabled the light blues of Cambridge to win by more than two lengths.

Swartout was content to see the dark blues take the lead early in the race. Further along they four and one-quarter mile grind he was still undismayed when Oxford again spurted ahead.

Directs Race
He was directing his own race and would not play a game with H. A. G. Durbridge, who, by his frequent sprints, sought to draw the light blues away from their carefully mapped campaign, but the tiny American held to his schedule. The staying power that Swartout had relied on was not lacking. Cambridge finished first. Oxford was in a bad way. Five dark blue oarsmen were at the point of collapse.

Near Record
Cambridge made the Thames river course south from Putney to Mortlake in 19 minutes, 9 seconds. That time is 28 seconds slower than the record time of 1924, but the Cambridge performance was a creditable one for the choppy water and gusty breezes which swept around the horse shoe shaped course.

A crowd of more than 300,000 persons swam along the course of the race and altogether there were nearly 1,000,000 in the general vicinity. Some were in 24 passenger airplanes which hovered over the river.

A heavy mist which was almost a rainstorm drizzled down through out the race.

Oxford Leads
Both crews got away in proper starts. Oxford, using the slightly advanced stroke, drew away to a half length lead. This lead was held most of the time for the first mile and a half.

At the Doves, almost at the two-mile mark, Cambridge pulled even and Oxford faltered ever so slightly.

Swartout gave his men a rest along the Mall and again Oxford went into the lead. At Chiswick, with three quarters of the race over, Cambridge erased the lead.

At Barnes Bridge, Cambridge was three quarters of a length ahead. Swartout then lifted the stroke to 38. This sent his shell one and one half lengths ahead, and the Cambridge crew rested on its oars across the finish line far ahead.

18 DAY HOLLYWOOD DIET FAD ABANDONED BY STARS

HOLLYWOOD, April 12.—(UP)—The feminine stars of the movie world have started to eat once more after toying quite a while with the famous 18-day diet.

In fact, a casual observation of some of the studios today, emphasized the conclusion that inviting a beautiful Hollywood girl out to dine no longer may be listed under the general heading of economy.

Whereas, under the rigid rule of the 18-day craze, no girl would be caught nibbling anything more substantial than a tidbit of toast or a piece of lettuce, she now will order a steak well done and then scan the dessert list while waiting for the meat course to arrive.

No Diets
No longer, if Hollywood can be taken as a standard, do women consider one baked potato without benefit of gravy sufficient for an evening meal.

The starvation days were numbered, according to some studio spokesmen, when talking pictures, strong bodies and vim and vigor for early and late hours before the cameras were demanded by the producers and the stars found that a few pounds were to be preferred to nervous breakdowns.

A number of tragic cases have been recorded in Hollywood due to incorrect dieting. Several studios suffered monetary losses when the leading actresses collapsed, and as a result, took a hand in the situation.

Doctor Hired
Winifred Westover, former wife of William Hart, gained 40 pounds to qualify for a coveted role.

When the picture was completed, she lost the weight rapidly.

Eddie Cantor in "Whoopie," is but harmlessly, under the supervision of a specialist.

Molly O'Day, sister of Sally O'Neill, also underwent a systematic reduction in order to qualify for continuous work in the movie studios.

First National studios went so far as to hire Dr. Paul Jeffries, a recognized authority on dieting, to advise Dorothy Mackall, Billie Dove, Alice White, Vivienne Segal, Loretta Young and others working at that lot.

Dr. Jeffries was very kind, yet firm as he evolved a strenuous program of exercise for his many charges. Horseback riding and swimming were of the MUST program and golf and tennis were recommended as between pictures diversion.

For breakfast Dr. Jeffries urged only orange juice, toast without butter. He recommended a salad or a small amount of lean meat and plenty of fresh vegetables for luncheon. He frowned upon any form of dessert at noontime.

"For dinner," said Dr. Jeffries, "I tell the stars they may eat anything they like—providing they have not consumed too many calories during the day. In fact, my program is merely the old fashioned way of counting calories, with an eye to vitamin requirements as furnished by the fruit juices."

All of which, the masculine element of Hollywood agreed, seemed a fine program for the women but was a very sad break for the escort who finds the check at his elbow after an evening in a cafe.

Eleanor Hunt, once of the New York chorus and recently selected by Samuel Goldwyn to play in her first movie opposite Eddie Cantor in "Whoopie," is

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said:

"One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

RICHMOND ARMS TO BE FORMALLY OPENED TODAY

MODERN NEW APARTMENT TO OPEN

Richmond has gained an apartment building that will add much to the beauty of the city.

The new building is the Richmond Arms which will be formally opened today at Eighth street between Barrett and Nevin avenues.

The building is one of the most modern of its kind in the bay region.

For many long months, Mrs. Clara Hansen, builder of the Hansen apartments which adjoins the new building, worked on the plans for the new structure.

It was Mrs. Hansen who designed the building and its fittings, which are in perfect taste.

Cost $600,000
The new building was completed at a cost of more than $600,000. Construction was started late last year and was finished several weeks ago.

The building is three stories high and the exterior decorations are in keeping with the Gothic type of architecture. The interior is finished in the Spanish motif.

The building has so been designed that it will meet every need of its tenants.

3 Story Building
The house is three stories high, trimmed in green and white, and it makes a neat appearance.

The interior of the house has been finished in semi-modernistic style and every feature of the building has been carefully designed.

The doors leading into each apartment are masterpieces of the sand plaster art. They were designed by Mrs. Hansen and have the appearance of being carved by hand. The door knobs carry the same design as the doors.

Steam Heat
The two and three room apartments are light and sunny and are well heated by steam heat. There is a radiator in every room.

The furnishings of the rooms are of a special design that blends in the California type of goods. An extension table of well polished wood is one of the features of the front room. A unique lighting system is stressed.

The kitchens are finished in black and white, including a black and white checked linoleum upon the floor. The sink is well designed and is of a make that is popular throughout the world. Every article of the kitchen has been made for the convenience of the housewife. There is a big daylight light attached to the ceiling and another light and shade is placed over the sink.

Electric Stoves
An electric refrigerator is in every kitchen. There is no noisy machinery but a central plant in the basement takes care of the freezing.

Every article of electrical equipment that will add to the pleasures of housework is included. There is an electric stove, toaster, iron and coffee percolator in every kitchen.

Cooking pans, dishes, silverware, table linens and bed linens are placed at the disposal of the tenants.

Wall Beds
Beds are well built. In the three room apartments there are two wall beds. The mattresses were especially built for the apartment and are covered by a ticking that can be cleaned easily.

The rugs are of a deep, soft, modern type, with a quiet dignified color.

Every room is equipped for a radio receiving set with special floor plugs for the aerial and ground wires.

Many Conveniences
There are a number of special outlet electrical plugs placed in each apartment for the convenience of the tenants.

A special feature of the entire building is the soundproof construction. Noise has been the bane of apartment house living. In some buildings any noise that a tenant in an adjoining apartment makes is carried into the other apartments.

By the use of a special soundproof material this nuisance is completely done away with. This soundproofing compound is shot into the walls of the apartment by an air gun and is packed tightly. Sound waves are completely shut off by this material.

Roof Laundry
On the roof of the building is located the laundry and the drying yard. The laundry is equipped with two large electric washers and two rinsing tubs.

On the roof, out in the sun, is the drying yard with clothes lines of the rust-proof type.

The aerials for the radio sets are also installed on the roof. The work was done by a local radio man. According to Mrs. Hansen the aerials are so erected that they do away with interference.

In the basement of the building is located the central heating plant and the refrigerator machinery.

Schrader Furnishings
Each of the apartments contains an inter-apartment telephone that is connected with the door, the managers' office and the janitor's office.

The building was furnished by the L. H. Schrader company, a Richmond furniture house.

Mrs. Hansen, owner of the apartment, graduated from the Richmond school and has lived in Richmond most of her life. She formerly owned two hotels in west Richmond. In 1918 she constructed the Hansen apartments at a cost of $30,000.

He owes the C. I. T. corporation of 525 Market street San Francisco, $100,000 and the Continental Credit company of 111 Sutter street, San Francisco, $50,000, according to the petition.

California Wins Tennis Finals

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—(UP) Muhelsen of California, defeated Delara, of U. S. C., 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, in the finals of the intercollegiate tennis tourney here today.

The Richmond Arms

MODERN in every detail, this new apartment house, to be known as the Richmond Arms Apartment, was opened yesterday. The building was designed by Mrs. Clara Hansen, a pioneer Richmond woman, the owner of the structure. The new apartment house adjoins the Hansen Apartments on Eighth street, between Barrett and Nevin avenue.

Thayer Infant Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Donnie Mae Thayer, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Thayer, 343 Ninth street, will be held from the Curry's funeral parlors at 10:30 tomorrow morning. Cremation will follow at the Berkeley crematory. Rev. Kenneth B. Wallace will officiate.

SCHRADER CO. FURNISHES APARTMENT

The new Richmond Arms apartment house at Eighth street was furnished from basement to roof by the L. H. Schrader furniture company's store of Richmond.

The apartments with their attractive furnishings form a delightful color combination that is restful to the eyes.

Drapes and hangings furnished by the Schrader company are the last word in artistic hangings. The rugs, lamps, chesterfields and dining room and breakfast room furniture are a symphony of color.

Wide experience in hotel and apartment management by the operators of the new building, combined with the studied care of the L. H. Schrader company resulted in a masterpiece of home-like comfort and convenience.

Herbert Schrader, president of the local firm, declared yesterday that, "It is a great pleasure for the L. H. Schrader company to cooperate with the Hansens in outfitting the new building in the most up-to-date manner" our interior decoration experts advise.

"We cordially invite everyone who is at all interested in seeing what can be done to make modern apartments home-like to attend the formal opening of the Richmond Arms Apartment today."
